HEALING ARTS

OUR MISSION

To eliminate the stigma attached to receiving mental health services, specifically among culturally marginalized communities, and to promote growth and development of children, families, adults and the community through leadership, academics, research and evidence-based therapies.

WHY HEALING ARTS?

Matters of mental and behavioral health are difficult to approach for many people, and even more so among marginalized communities. Cultural norms and generational poverty can prevent individuals from seeking help which can worsen emotional wellbeing and behavioral problems.

Healing Arts is committed to remove barriers for children in under-served communities to help make sure that they receive the services they need. We go directly to schools and homes of at-risk children to provide care and position ourselves as a pillar of trust and support.

Healing Arts employs traditional and nontraditional therapies, supportive behavioral counseling, family and group therapy sessions to help build emotional intelligence, learn coping skills to deal with difficult circumstances and provide them with the tools they need to become well-adjusted adults.
